Why do we process your data?

COMPLETION OF YOUR ORDER

If you place an order through our online shop, we shall use your personal data provided in the placing order process to realize the order, the payment for the order and to inform you about the order and delivery status.

What personal data do we process for these purposes?

- name and surname (obligatory)

- postal address (obligatory)
- e-mail address (obligatory)
- telephone number (obligatory)
- company name and VAT Number/Tax Identification Number (obligatory in the case of entrepreneurs)
- delivery address (optional)
- in the case when another person shall be the recipient of the delivery: the person's name and surname, address and telephone number (optional)
- payment details.

Providing the personal data specified as obligatory herein shall be voluntary, however failure to do so makes placing the order impossible. Not providing the personal data, specified as optional, makes using the additional options which require the data, impossible (e.g. not providing optional data such as a different delivery address makes the delivery of the order to the address impossible).

What legal basis do we process your personal data upon?

We process your personal data based on:

- the contract between you and Gomez [Article 6, section 1, item b of GDPR]
- legally justified interest of the Controller – in the scope of processing data for direct marketing purposes including profiling and the customer's satisfaction level measurement [Article 6, section 1, item f of GDPR]
- legally justified interest of the Controller – for the purposes of the Complaint handling policy [Article 6, section 1, item f of GDPR]
- complying with the obligations of the Controller under the provisions of law [Article 6, section 1, item c of GDPR in conjunction with the provisions of the Accounting Act]

How long do we store your personal data?

We store your personal data up to 7 years (6 years +1 year) effective as of the last day of the calendar year, due to expiration time of claims (Article 118 of the Polish Civil Code, Article 86, section 1 of the Tax Ordinance Act). In the case of ongoing claim proceedings, your personal data may be stored for a longer period of time - until the final time of the proceedings.

CUSTOMER ACCOUNT IN THE ONLINE STORE

If you make a consent and establish a Customer Account, Gomez shall process your personal data provided in the registration form of the Customer Account and in the Customer's personal data tab in the Customer Account in order to establish and use your Customer Account in the online shop.

What personal data do we process for these purposes?

- name and surname (obligatory)
- e-mail address (obligatory)
- company name and VAT Number/Tax Identification Number (obligatory in the case of entrepreneurs)
- postal address (optional)
- delivery address (optional)
- additional e-mail addresses (optional)
- telephone number (optional)
- date of birth (optional)
- in the case when another person shall be the recipient of the delivery: the person's name and surname, address and telephone number (optional)
- history of transactions (including withdrawals from online contracts)
- the number of gathered points and discounts in Gomez Club Program (if the Customer has joined the GC Program).

Providing personal data specified as obligatory herein shall be voluntary, however failure to do so makes establishing the Customer Account impossible. Not providing the optional personal data, makes using the additional options which require the data, impossible (e.g. not providing optional data such as a different delivery address, makes the delivery of the order to the address impossible).

What legal basis do we process your personal data upon?

We process your personal data based on:

- the contract between you and Gomez [Article 6, section 1, item b of GDPR]
